

Rocky Mountain Bonsai Societies 51st Annual Show

This year the annual show will be taken to the virtual realm and beyond! While COVID has done its best to interrupt our daily lives, the RMBS has been hard at work creatively planning ways to bring this year's show to new heights. With increasingly limited abilities to congregate the 2020 show will utilize a virtual format for a global audience.

The RMBonsai.org website will be transformed into a virtual gallery, live demo, historical bonsai documentation, and one stop shop for spending an entire day enjoying and admiring the art of Bonsai. The content will be provided by members of Rocky Mountain Bonsai Society!

The Bill Hosokawa Bonsai Pavilion will be transformed for the dates of September 18-27, into a small RMBS show of trees selected by the board to represent the Rocky Mountain Bonsai Society and our goals. Reservations can be made to see the show up to two weeks in advance here at the Denver Botanic Gardens website. The show will have a narrated walkthrough uploaded to the website for the virtual opening on September 20th. The narrated walk through will be joined by a virtual gallery of the memberships trees, bonsai demos, several articles, blog posts, and added content.

We are very excited to introduce the Rocky Mountain Bonsai Society to a global audience, and hope that you will help us to make this a very special event!
